

Beachfront cleanup scheduled Saturday

BY ELLIS CUEVAS
Hancock County residents will participate in the Mississippi Marine Trash Task Force's "Take Pride Gulf Wide" Coastal Cleanup Saturday from 9 a.m. until noon.

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce sponsored beachfront cleanup has become an annual event in this county.

The cleanup is also assisted by Hancock County Extension Service and is in cooperation with the Hancock County Board of Supervisors and the Cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland.

Registration will begin at 8 a.m. at four locations for the Hancock beach cleanup.

Registration sites will include the Ulman Avenue Pier at Beach Boulevard, Bay St. Louis; Garfield Ladner Memorial Pier, Waveland; Railroad tracks near Garcia's Grocery, Clermont Harbor; and Lakeshore Road and Beach Boulevard, Lakeshore.

County Extension Homemakers' Clubs members and Chamber of Commerce beautification committee members will handle the registrations.

Participants in the area cleanup will also be entitled to a hot dog and Coke beginning at noon at the Garfield Ladner Memorial Pier. Ray Kidd of Lil Ray's is in charge of the refreshments.

Ellis Cuevas, Task Force member and chamber beautification chairman, reports participants will each be assigned to an area and that plastic bags and some rubber gloves will be available at the registration points.

Each group of participants will also receive a Beach Cleanup Data Card along with instructions on how to record the types of debris collected.

This information will be used by the Center for Marine Conservation's National Marine Debris Base and Report to help develop solutions to stopping marine debris.

"It is very important that everyone register so we can have a record of the debris they collect and their participation," Cuevas said.

The Coastal Barrier Islands will also be cleaned, along with the coastlines of Harrison and Jackson Counties. Dianne Hunt is chairman for Cat Island's cleanup and can be reached at 385-5860.

The cleanup day this year will be nationwide for all states with shorelines and barrier islands. Last year the cleanup day involved only the six Gulf states.

Three years ago, a Hancock County beach cleanup resulted in the county being recognized as a runner-up in the "Take Pride in America" national cleanup campaign.

Last year in the three Mississippi coastal counties and barrier islands some 45 tons of marine trash was removed in a one

New 911 system ready to begin work Oct. 2

BY DENA BISNETTE
Hancock County's Enhanced 911 emergency telephone system will be ready for use by Oct. 2.

The final meeting of the Hancock County 911 Commission, a group of emergency services department heads overseeing the project, was Wednesday.

Sheriff Ronald Peterson, chairman of the commission, said a dedication ceremony for the new system is being planned and is probably going to be scheduled for Oct. 2.

Peterson has been serving on the commission with Bay St. Louis Police Chief Ray Murphy, Waveland Police Department Investigator Robert Tartavouille, Waveland Fire Chief David Garcia, Bay St. Louis Fire Chief Andrew Lizana, Diamondhead

Fire Chief Dennis Westbrook and Mobile Medic Ambulance Service representative Steve Delahoussay.

The Enhanced 911 project included the installation of additional electronic equipment at the Hancock County Sheriff's Department, Bay St. Louis Police Department and Waveland Police Department. All three installations have now been completed by South Central Bell.

The equipment is designed to provide the answering dispatcher with the telephone number of the 911 caller, the address at which the telephone is located and the name under which the phone is listed.

The information not only is shown on a computer screen, but is provided as a print-out. In addition, a dispatcher can automatically route the information to the proper emergency service by pushing a single button.

A caller using the ordinary 911 system available in some parts of the county before the implementation of the Enhanced 911 has to tell the dispatcher his location before help can be sent.

Peterson explained that the new system allows help to be sent even if the caller is unable to speak, is interrupted before he can give his location or hangs up.

The data base for the system has been developed through a two-year project conducted through the reappraisal department of Hancock County Tax Collector and Assessor Edward

ASRM meeting draws concerned citizens

BY D.C. HARVILL
Approximately 500 people packed the Hancock County Community Center Tuesday evening to express their concerns about Advanced Solid Rocket Motor (ASRM) tests proposed for Stennis Space Center and to hear NASA's explanation of the project.

Public comment following presentations by NASA and the Mississippi Bureau of Pollution Control, ran decidedly against the ASRM project.

Charles Chisholm, director of the Bureau of Pollution Control explained the process by which the project will be permitted. If the BPC determines the tests cannot be safely conducted at Stennis, the project will not be permitted, Chisholm said. Citizens and some politicians in south Mississippi and Louisiana have raised concerns about whether the tests can be conducted at Stennis without adversely affecting the environment and health of residents in the area surrounding the space center.

Each static test firing will produce approximately 228,000 pounds of hydrogen chloride gas and 362,000 pounds of aluminum oxide in the form of fine particles.

The project is scheduled to last 30 years with up to eight tests the first two years and two each following year.

"I am concerned about the long-term effects the tests will have on the people of... South Mississippi, the land and the water. This increase in aluminum in the atmosphere of Hancock County and south Mississippi concerns me, because I have experts telling me that this increase could be detrimental to our crops and timber," State Representative J.P. Compretta said.

There are approximately 800,000 acres in timber production in the area surrounding Stennis, and 10,000 acres of crops accounting for $7 million annually in Hancock County, Compretta said.

The representative asked the NASA officials who would be held responsible if the tests

Ladner to address local 1989 United Way kickoff

BY ELLIS CUEVAS
Coach J. Larry Ladner will be the guest speaker for the United Way of Hancock County Kickoff Breakfast for the 1989 campaign on Tuesday, September 26, 7:30 a.m. at the Wheel Inn Restaurant.

Coach Ladner is an assistant professor and basketball specialist in the Department of Coaching and Sports Administration at the University of Southern Mississippi.

Ladner has become a recognized authority on the game of basketball and has written more than 20 articles for national and international publications.

He represented the United States as the first American basketball coach invited to Venezuela to conduct clinics and seminars at the National Institute of Sports in conjunction with the University of Zulia.

Ladner has addressed over 500 academic banquets, athletic banquets, general assembly programs, civic clubs, and religious organizations.

A resident of Hattiesburg, Ladner has served on the board of directors for the United Way of Forrest and Lamar counties.

Coach Ladner is married to the former Peggy Willoughby, a native of Kiln. They are the parents of two sons, Jay Larry and Stewart Dean; and two daughters, Pamela Ann and Kimberly Ann.

Ladner's love of basketball began as an elementary student at Kiln school where he was graduated in 1955.

His mother, Mrs. Earl E. Ladner Sr., still resides near

County to prosecute dumpster violations

BY DENA BISNETTE
The Hancock County Board of Supervisors is still looking at an alternative method of garbage disposal while awaiting a permit for a new sanitary landfill and coping with abuses of a dumpster system currently provided for county residents.

County Maintenance Superintendent Sam Cuevas said the board will have a workshop discussion today with one private waste disposal firm and has already met with another to discuss future disposal methods, but has not yet reached a decision.

"We're hoping to have something by December," Cuevas said.

The proposed landfill site in Standard Community would take at least six months to prepare for use even if state and federal regulatory agencies approve permit applications immediately, Cuevas explained.

"There's a lot of construction involved," he stated. Among those items are an access road to the site and a manhole system for draining off the harmful liquids generated by decaying

In Loving Memory
OF MY BELOVED SON
CURTIS HOLMAN

Born Sept. 24, 1949
Killed Aug. 14, 1979

Who was loved and cherished by all those around him.

Who saw life as clean as the sunlight in a crystal stream.

And drank from the river of life as his cup was often filled.

He is now gone but only like a rose that grows along side a fence to bloom again on the other side to live once more.

Although he is gone to be reborn he has never really left us.

He lives on in our hearts. Immortality is an essence that lives on as long as his kindness, his words and most of all, his love is still with us, his family.

So Chopper is sadly missed by us but we know he walks on the streets of gold among the angels and picks a leaf for us from the tree and fills his cup again from the river of life.

His cup runneth over. The Lord is his shepherd for he shall no longer want.

Sadly missed

CYO meetings are conducted 7 p.m. each Wednesday in the parish hall. All youths of the parish are invited to join St. Ann-St. John's active group of teens.

Presently, they are preparing for a teen dance (12 to 18 years) to be held in the parish hall Saturday, Sept. 30 from 8 p.m. until midnight. Donation is $2.

D. J. Mark Ward will provide the music for dancing. Refreshments are available.

Choir practice is 6 p.m. each Thursday at St. Ann Church before the 7 p.m. mass. Members are needed to help lead the singing during all weekend masses at St. Ann and St. John churches.

According to Mrs. Delores Johnston, CCD coordinator, registration for grade school children attending public school will be 10 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 7 in the parish hall. Children must be accompanied by their parents.

The September meeting of St. Ann-St. John Altar Society is 10:30 a.m. this Wednesday, Sept. 27. Immediately following will be the regular monthly luncheon in the parish hall. Lunch chairlady Dot Neubig has planned a delicious menu of roast beef po-boys, lettuce, tomato and chips. Donation is $2.50. Drinks and dessert are available and the public is welcome.

An afternoon of games begins immediately after lunch. Everyone is invited.

"COME BLOW YOUR HORN," a comedy directed by Michael Ruf, opens tonight at the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre's Boardman Avenue Playhouse. Curtain time is 8 p.m. and tickets are available at the door. The

Commodities to be distributed by Welfare Dept. Wednesday

The Hancock County Department of Human Services will distribute USDA commodities—flour, butter, canned pork, canned beans, honey and peanut butter on Wednesday, Sept. 27 at the American Legion Hall on Coleman Avenue in Waveland.

Distribution hours will be from 9:30 a.m. until all of the commodities are gone, but no later than 2 p.m. Eligible recipients are those who receive food stamps or low income households who have applied for commodities at the Welfare Department and have been determined eligible.

Participants are reminded that they must bring their signed voucher with them in order to receive commodities. If a participant wishes to have someone else pick up their commodities, they must sign the voucher on the front and on the back, and the person picking up the commodities must sign it on the back and bring it to the distribution site.

Participants are reminded that they can only pick up commodities for two households at a time and that they will have to carry the commodities they pick up.

Non-food stamp recipients may apply for commodities at the Department of Human Services (Welfare Department) Monday, Sept. 25 through Wednesday, Sept. 27 (the day of distribution). Applications will not be taken at the distribution site.

Arts and crafts show slated at Diamondhead

The seventh annual Arts and Creative Crafts Show will be hosted at Diamondhead Saturday, September 30 from 9:30 a.m. - 6 p.m. and Sunday, October 1 from 11 a.m. until 5 p.m. This year's event will feature live entertainment in addition to a record number of exhibitors including many familiar names along with several new ones.

Among exhibitors will be many crafters who have brought their quality work to the show for several years. Those returning will feature wood and fabric crafts, quilted items, dried and silk flower arrangements, pottery, ceramics and porcelain.

Also, handmade baskets; stained, etched, and leaded glass; decorative stone, marble and granite; block printed, tie dyed, hand painted and stenciled clothing; shell craft; ribbon crafts; fine arts and tote painting; jewelry made of everything from antique buttons to fish scales; potpourri; and leather crafts. These are but a sample of the wide variety and selection available.

There are also many new crafts featured this year, including willow and pine furniture; jewelry made of crawfish shells, coral and antique silver flatware; Victorian lace accessories; and custom made drapes, swags, spread and headboards.

The Diamondhead Country Club will again offer a delicious barbecue-deli buffet and picnic box lunch for inside dining. The outside food carts will provide sandwiches and drinks.

As in past years, each exhibitor will be asked to donate a handcrafted item from his or her booth to be raffied by the Diamondhead Academy PTO. Raffle tickets will be on sale both days and will be good for both days. There will be many drawings throughout the two days for the prizes.

For more information, contact Brierley Acker at 255-2697 or Linda Wallace at 255-9100.

New Good Will is good news!

Recently a new sign went up in the old A & P Mall. The lettering spells GOOD WILL and that is an accurate eight-letter word. The new location of our Good Will store is next door to the Dollar General and the floor space is covered to the point of crowding with racks and bins and tables full of low-priced merchandise of every imaginable kind!

Men's and women's wearing apparel, children's clothing from infants through school age, shoes, appliances, household bargains in lamps, drapes, bedding, and there are bargains for those who sew. Attractive new material at 50 cents a yard.

There are toys and what-nots, table wear, and some dishes. There are books and records. All of these things have been donated by people of "good will" and customers are fortunate in finding a way to make our shrinking dollar go further.

Good Will is "Good News" especially on the shoe racks where fashionable name brand shoes may be had for as little as two or three dollars! There is good news also for growing children where garments hardly worn twice before being "outgrown" hit the low price table. Pricers make charges very low realizing what new clothing costs.

A definition of charity is to be found in Webster's New World Dictionary. "Charity is that feeling of Good Will—an act of good will or affection—a giving to help others."

Everybody receives benefits when patronizing a Good Will store. The donor may claim the gifts on the income tax return. The gift-giver also makes room for items no longer needed and has the warm good feeling of placing items where they will be appreciated. The purchaser is delighted with bargains and interesting "finds."

Good Will Stores are democratic—all persons are welcome regardless of race, color or creed. A balance of those who give and those who get makes for the success of the project.

Conservation should begin with our thrift shop outlets.

garbage.

In the meantime, following the discovery of a dead cow in a Bienville Community dumpster last week and consistent problems with items not classified as household garbage being placed in or around dumpsters all over the county, the maintenance department is trying to crack down on violators.

Additional problems include dumpsters and their contents being set on fire.

Cuevas said several affidavits have already been filed through Hancock County Justice Court.

In addition, his office is acting on reports of violators' tag numbers and is collecting names found on some of the trash in order to try to identify violators.

"It is still costing us eight to 12 hours per crew per week to clean up around the dumpsters. One week the problem is tolerable, and one week the whole system falls apart," Cuevas said.

"By prosecuting violators, we hope to relieve the problem."

Anyone who sees a violation, which is the dumping of anything other than household garbage into a dumpster, is asked to write down the tag number of the vehicle involved and report it to the maintenance office at 255-3367.

Murtagh's office.

Under the direction of one of Murtagh's staff members, Candy Breaux, each structure in the county is being numbered and each road has been named or numbered by the board of supervisors. Duplicate addresses are being eliminated.

She said only a few sections of the county remained to be completed late last week.

"We still have a lot of numbers we need to change in the county, but it won't affect the program," Murtagh explained. "They can be handled like an update."

Breaux added that the project would be finished slightly behind schedule because there were more addresses to be listed and verified by field representatives than originally anticipated.

"We knew we had 11,800 homes at the beginning, but expected that there could be more because new buildings have been constructed," Breaux said.

The information was placed in the computer system as it was gathered.

The cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland are also participating. Waveland officials met with South Central Bell representatives Friday to go over final plans for the project.

Waveland Mayor John Longo Jr. said the names and addresses have to be converted to a specific format requested by South Central Bell, but otherwise, he expects everything to go smoothly because most of the data, with the exception of a few updated addresses, is ready.

Longo explained that the original type of 911 system has existed in Waveland for 20 years. At that time, however, the city was smaller and the mayor said he was able to document the addresses himself during weekends and holidays.

Bay St. Louis had another factor with which to contend. At about the same time the Enhanced 911 system was to be installed, the police department was in the process of moving its dispatch area from the back of the Valena C. Jones Center to new quarters in the front of the building.

Sgt. Chuck James, who handles electronic communications for the department, said the installation was completed about 10 days ago and is already being monitored.

"We think all things associated with this program have gone real well," said Peterson, who explained that a number of problems anticipated when the county started the project two years ago have never actually materialized.

"It has been a real tribute to Eddie Murtagh and his staff. The burden of the project has been on them."

"We have had very few complaints and feel he did an excellent job."

South Central Bell also provided training sessions for all of the dispatchers in the county.

The dispatchers are already using their new skills.

"We had an incident in north end of the county that came up on 911 after the equipment was set up in its initial phase," said Peterson, who remembers that the matter involved a possible drowning.

"We could see the difference in getting Mobile Medic there more quickly."

"I can see that once it's fully implemented, you'll be able to see the results in the system's one day saving a life," he added.

LOCAL BRIEF

ROAD CLOSED

Longfellow Road is still partially closed, with a ditch cut across part of the street restricting through traffic.

According to Hancock County Maintenance Superintendent Sam Cuevas, motorists can access the road from McLaurin to go north to Highway 603. The other end of Longfellow is only open from the old back of the old Schuffert car dealership to US-90.

TENT REVIVAL

Hope for Life, Highway 603, one-half mile north of K-Mart, is holding a tent revival 7:30 nightly Sept. 22 through 30.

The revival services will be conducted by evangelists Lydia and Sidney Burch. The public is invited.

Hope for Life also conducts 11 a.m. Sunday services and Bible studies each Thursday at 7:30.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

Friday night will be homecoming for the St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws, and they will play host to the Long Beach Bearcats.

Alumni from all around will be at the game cheering for the Rocks, who have won three straight games this season.

This is a very important game for Stanislaus and the Bearcats could spoil the night for the Rock-A-Chaws if they are not careful.

Saturday night will be homecoming for Coast Episcopal, who will play host to Columbia Academy.

The Coast Episcopal game on Saturday will get underway at 5 p.m. at the St. Stanislaus stadium in Bay St. Louis.

The Hawks of Hancock North Central will be trying to add victory number four of the season when they travel to East Central.

Hancock is rated No. 14 in the state's high school polls and must be prepared for East Central. They need not be looking forward to next week's game.

The young Tigers of Bay High will travel to Vancleave to tangle with the Bulldogs.

Vancleave always seems to come up with a good game against the Tigers.

The Pass Christian Pirates will visit Mercy Cross tonight.

Pass Christian will have to come up with an exceptional game to take the strong Mercy Cross eleven.

I hope you will be out supporting the high school team of your choice this week.

Remember, kickoffs are for 7:30 p.m. unless otherwise indicated.

There was a full house of interested citizens attending the Mississippi Department of Environmental Quality Bureau of Pollution Control's public meeting Tuesday night in reference to NASA's request for a permit to address the test firing of the Advanced Solid Rocket Motors (ASRM).

The attendance was estimated by several folks at being near 500, and the meeting lasted almost three hours.

The public was given the opportunity to express their concerns and ask questions.

Some of the concerns and questions raised were answered by NASA's officials while the answers to some of the questions should be forthcoming.

The information gathered at the hearing will now be analyzed by the Bureau of Pollution Control staff during the completion of the application review.

The outcome of the public meeting will probably take some time before the Bureau of Pollution Control can study the entire program.

I was really happy to see some of the vines and trees coming down around the school bus parking lot on Carroll Avenue Wednesday.

I have always been bugged about the fence overgrown with vines and trees and have been expressing my opinions to those who I thought were in charge.

Just recently I mentioned the matter to Robert Magee, new superintendent of education, and he told me the matter would be taken care of.

I really appreciate Mr. Magee's fast response.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

No pollution is only solution to ASRM testing dilemma

To the Editor:

This letter is in regard to NASA's proposal to test the space shuttle's solid rockets at Stennis Space Center in Hancock County.

After attending the public meeting held Sept. 19 in Bay St. Louis, I feel as though many people missed the point that many people wanted to make.

The potential for acid rain from this project is great but there are other problems also. NASA must have the ideal weather conditions to run these tests.

What if these weather conditions fall during bird migration through Hancock County? According to my information, the avians will drop like flies. If the numbers of birds are great, the number of birds falling from the skies could be thousands.

This is not my only concern. Dr. Rebecca McCaleb, NASA's very own environmental scientist, talked about how great a friend NASA is...how they always meet federal and state environmental guidelines, delineations, and go the extra mile to make sure that everything is monitored, recorded and available for any and all to see...

You see, that does not reassure me. I don't want guidelines met. To reiterate myself: I want all of the U.S. congressmen, senators and representatives to know that we want clean air to breathe, clean water to drink, and clean soil in which our plants and food can grow.

I am sick of guidelines and delineations being placed by people in bureaucratic jobs who really don't know the results of 200 tons of hydrochloric acid and 75 tons of aluminum oxide dust in the atmosphere three generations from now.

Why do we have to settle for one pound of pollution? Why do we have to have any guidelines? What I want to say is 'No Pollution Is The Only Solution.'

Stennis Director Roy Estess and Dr. McCaleb both assured us that they live in this community and have as much to lose or gain as we do. I have three businesses and a house here. Tell me how I would pick up and leave in a hurry. Where would I find someone who would want to move here and buy my property?

No, I don't think that they can convince me that if this thing goes haywire—and we all know NASA is not infallible—that they stand just as much to lose. Besides, their words did not comfort me.

Scrub the gases? The question was never answered at this public meeting as to why they do not consider scrubbing the gases and minimizing the pollution to a minute amount.

The proximity of the school in Hancock County was never mentioned.

The unpredicability of our Southern climate was never mentioned, although Dr. McCaleb did talk about four remote weather monitoring stations in various areas.

We still know that all things cannot be protected completely. Even Mr. Estess admitted that there would be "some environmental penalty."

How sad. It is time we all demanded no compromises. No environmental penalties. If they have to scrap this project, too damned bad. I want my environment left pristine, not compromised. It is my right and the right of every child born and to be born.

The Indians say it so well. "Everything in the natural world is sacred. The Creator is in everything He made." This belief is permeating our society and the powers that be—take heed.

Enjoy the weather— you have no choice!

Dear Editor:

There has been a bit of talk going around about our weather. It is worth a comment. For three days in a row, the temperature went over 100 degrees. It was hot! And then the rains came. I mean they were chunk floaters, filling the ditches, overflowing into the streets and roadways. Regular cloud bursts.

James Whitcomb Riley in the dialect of his home state, Indiana, must have experienced similar weather when he wrote:

It ain't no use to grumble and complain;

It's jest as cheap and easy to rejoice;

When God sorts out the weather and sends rain, Why, rain's my choice."

I disagree with the oft quoted statement, "You can't do anything about the weather." Why not adopt Riley's home-spun philosophy and "set back" and enjoy it?

Closing of Scafi's station overlooked by newspaper

Dear Editor:

We have just one question. What's really newsworthy?

We have been filled with pictures, articles and snappy comments about the "wonderful walking track," but when it comes to Bay St. Louis history such as the end of a business, no one was there to record the moment.

Not the closing—not even the total disposal of the P & D Standard Oil Station—corner of Main Street and Hwy. 90, which stood there and serviced so many of us for over 35 years after their move from Uman Avenue in the early 1950's.

How sad it is to think that someone could overlook an event such as this.

To the owners, Philip and Dominic Scafi, we would like to say thank you for being there for so many of us since the opening of Hwy. 90 so many years ago. You have truly "served" the community.

Sincerely,
Marvin and Anne Krankey

Pets available for asking at Waveland Animal Shelter

To the Editor:

For most of us, October brings cooler breezes, falling leaves and Halloween. But for the 13 million homeless puppies and dogs in animal shelters across the country, October brings the ninth annual Adopt-a-Dog Month campaign.

More than 900 animal shelters nationwide, including Waveland Animal Shelter, participate in this program which draws attention to the critical need for dog adoptions.

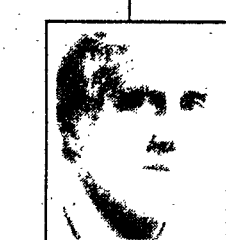

As an added incentive for dog lovers considering adoptions, Waveland Animal Shelter will be providing "doggie bags" full of treats and surprises for dog and owner throughout the month.

We would like to inform the community of the healthy, beautiful dogs available at our shelter. Anyone interested in adopting a pet is invited to visit our facility at 322 Gulfside Street in Waveland.

Please feel free to contact me at (601) 467-0230 if you have any questions, are interested in an interview or would like to visit our shelter.

Sincerely,

EYES ON MISSISSIPPI

By Bill Minor

Secretary of state files suit challenging tidelands law

Secretary of State Dick Molpus has done something unheard of in Mississippi politics: He's filed suit against the state charging parts of a tidelands law enacted by the 1989 Legislature are unconstitutional and unenforceable.

No other secretary of state in memory has ever challenged an enactment of the Legislature that directed him to do something he believes is a violation of the state constitution.

In effect, Molpus is suing himself, because he is the trustee of the state's tidelands, and the state official charged with representing the interests of all Mississippians in their ownership of coastal tidelands.

What brought about this legal anomaly was the insertion of several off-the-wall paragraphs by a House-Senate conference committee into a tidelands bill sponsored by Molpus at the 1989 legislative session.

Molpus had set out initially in the bill to carry out the mandate of the historic Cinque Bambini/Phillips Petroleum decision of the U.S. Supreme Court last year which firmly established the state's right of ownership in trust of all coastal lands below mean high tide.

The Bambini case upheld the state's ownership in trust dating back to its becoming a state in 1817 of all lands "subject to the ebb and flow of the tide below the then mean high water level."

As owner in trust of the tidelands, the state cannot sell or give away title to these lands. All Mississippians, therefore, are part owners of the lands.

But over the years hundreds of coastal business enterprises, residences and other facilities have been built on publicly owned tidelands by persons who thought they had a legal title to the land.

In Molpus' view, the language stuck into 1989 act would direct him to draw a boundary line and "give away" tidelands, marshes and beaches to anyone who may lay claim to them as of July 1, 1973, the date of enactment by the Legislature of the Coastal Wetlands Protection Act.

Interact

New service club organized for local youth

A new Interact Club, sponsored by the Rotary Club of Bay St. Louis, has been organized at Bay High School to provide community and international service opportunities for local youth of secondary school age. The charter members of the new club were selected on the basis of character and leadership potential by the sponsoring Rotary Club.

The Bay High School youths will join the more than 130,000 other Interact members in over 6,000 clubs in 90 countries. The worldwide program was launched by Rotary International in 1962.

The new Interact Club will work on two major projects each year. One project will serve Bay St. Louis and the other will help promote international understanding.

The Bay High Interact officers for 1989-1990 are Tamera Labat, president; Jessica Johnson, vice president; Melanie Howard, secretary; Courtney Thomas, treasurer; Ana Scaffidi, Darrell Cameron and Michelle Dean, board of directors; and Mrs. Patricia Clayborn, faculty advisor. Rotary is an organization of business and professional people united worldwide who provide humanitarian service, promote high ethical standards in all vocations and help build good will and peace in the world.

Act is merely a conservation and preservation act that was not designed to deal with the title issue.)

"I can't in good conscience under my oath do that," says Molpus. "The Supreme Courts of both Mississippi and the United States have instructed me to draw the line (between public and private coastal lands) using the best historic data." Two provisions in the 1989 act, Molpus maintains, would "grandfather" in land reclaimed or filled prior to July 1, 1973 even though it encroached on public trust tidelands.

Molpus had set up a broadly-based citizens commission to develop a tidelands leasing plan which could balance both the public ownership interests in the tidelands and also the economic interests of affected persons.

Out of the commission had come the recommendation incorporated in Molpus' bill to establish a "Public Trust Tidelands Fund" into which lease rentals would be deposited for use in public improvement and enhancement of public access to the tidelands.

The Tidelands Fund and several other provisions for implementation of his trusteeship were put into the 1989 Tidelands Act which Molpus is proceeding to implement, although at the same time he is challenging constitutionality of the boundary question.

Molpus has been left in a sort of no-man's land over the tidelands issue as a result of the Bambini case. "You have some purists on one hand who say we should bulldoze down everything (built in the tidelands). Then you have those on the other side who say 'let us alone,'" he said.

When the deal fell through several months back to sell Biloxi's Broadwater Hotel, a Coast landmark, to Japanese interests, some locals had groused that it was because of title problems concerning the hotel marina raised by Molpus' office.

Molpus emphatically denied that he had held up the title transfer in the case of the Broadwater, or any other business sale on the Coast. "No one is going to be forced out of his business or lose his business on our account," he said.

"This is one of those thankless jobs that requires dogged determination, but we're going to see it to the end," he added.

LOCAL BRIEF

HISTORICAL SOCIETY

The Hancock County Historical Society will meet at noon today for a dutch treat luncheon at Bay-Waveland Yacht Club.

The program will discuss the Orphan Train riders indentured to adoptive families in Bay St. Louis in the early 1900s.

Guest speakers are expected to include one of the surviving orphans, a widow of an orphan and the son of an orphan.

Reservations for the meeting may be made by signing up at the society's store at 114 Court Street or through the society's telephone callers.

Keesler auction set

The Defense Reutilization and Marketing Office at Keesler Air Force Base will conduct a public auction starting at 9 a.m. Sept. 26 in Building 4422.

Some of the items being auctioned include typewriters, televisions, cars, trucks, furniture and clothing. All items being sold, both new and used, is offered "as is, where is" to the highest bidder. Only cash or certified checks will be accepted and buyers will have eight days to pick up their goods.

Visitors must obtain a pass for their vehicles at the base visitors center before coming on base.

ASRM

should prove detrimental to the area.

When Dr. Robert Esher of Mississippi State University later demanded an answer to Compretta's question, the center's Chief Council Ken Human said NASA is an agency and no one individual could be held responsible.

"All of this material will be released into the atmosphere in two minutes. It is our position that these are unacceptably high concentrations of these materials," said Dwight Bradshaw, senior research biologist at Mississippi State University Research Center at Stennis and spokesman for Citizens for a Healthy Environment, said.

According to Bradshaw, Citizens for a Healthy Environment is comprised of Hancock, Harrison and Pearl River County, as well as St. Tammany Parish, Louisiana, residents who are concerned about health and environmental damage that could be caused by the test.

"A number of our members are employed at Stennis Space Center, including scientists and technicians who have technical expertise in areas ranging from aerospace engineering to environmental science," he said.

"Many of our members work for NASA or for NASA contractors and cannot make public statements concerning the (ASRM) for fear of retribution by NASA," Bradshaw added.

In his opening comments, Stennis Space Center Director Roy Estess said he believed the main questions to be addressed at the meeting were whether the chemicals associated with the tests would have an impact on the surrounding environment and does NASA have the "capability and plan to mitigate or minimize the negative impact?"

Does the local environment have the ability to absorb the chemicals without damage and can the environment be protected from lasting harmful effects, also are important questions, he said.

Estess said he believed the answer to all the questions is yes.

Opponents of the tests, including scientists who work at Stennis and who have conducted research related to the test, contend the hydrogen chloride will combine with moisture in the air, forming acid that will fall to earth as acid rain.

They also say aluminum from the tests will accumulate in the soil and that it will be made soluble by the combination of acid found in south Mississippi's soils and produced by the tests.

The increased level of soluble aluminum in the soil will be toxic to plants, they say.

The opponents also say the acid, which NASA claims will be produced as a fine aerosol, will aggravate respiratory illnesses in impacted areas.

NASA officials maintain that impacts from the tests will be "insignificant."

"As director for NASA at SSC, I can assure you that we and the agency will take every precaution humanly possible to safeguard the people and environment of this area," Estess said.

Stennis' project manager for the ASRM project, Gerald Smith, told the crowd that the rockets are needed to improve the space shuttle's safety and increase its payload.

One of the main reasons Stennis was selected for the tests is because the rockets must be transported by water, Smith said.

The engines, which are to be manufactured at Iuka in north-eastern Mississippi, will be shipped by barge down the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway to the Gulf, along the Intercoastal Waterway to the Pearl River and Stennis.

No environmental damage has been caused by the solid rockets used during space shuttle launches at Kennedy Space Center in Florida, Smith said.

The panel of NASA officials present at the meeting later conceded that NASA at Kennedy and Thiokol Corporation in Utah, where the shuttle's solid boosters are built and tested, both had had to pay for damage to automobile finishes as a result of firings.

Some environmentalists have proposed that the exhaust from the test be scrubbed to minimize the release of the toxins created by the tests.

According to Stennis' Environmental Officer Dr. Rebecca McCaleb, scrubbing is not feasible and the impact will be minimized by conducting the tests at times when the toxic chemicals will be spread over a wide area.

The project will have to meet all state and national environmental quality regulations, McCaleb said.

"The air pollution regulations were developed to regulate primarily industrial sources...that operate 24 hours a day. The ASRM is not analogous to sources. The current regulations are not adequate to regulate this kind of source," Bradshaw said.

Using recently published figures on the amount of air pollution produced by DuPont's DeLisle plant in comparison to the amount of material produced by an ASRM firing, Bradshaw showed that each test will produce 25,000 times more pollution.

In the project's Environmental Impact Statement (EIS), NASA determines impacts from the tests will be insignificant by using a dispersion prediction method the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) did not allow Thiokol to use for its tests in Utah.

"If (the method) is not good enough for Utah, it's not good enough for us.

"I do not believe NASA has the ability to predict the weather in South Mississippi accurately enough to know where the fallout from their tests will settle," Esher said.

He also questioned the damage to crops and forest as a result of the aluminum.

"In Vietnam, they told us Agent Orange wasn't harmful, but a lot of us are dying from cancer today because of it," Daniel Harper of Leetown said.

According to Chisholm, another hearing will be held prior to issuance of permits for the project.

the old school which now is Annunciation School.

Coach Ladner maintains a vacation home on Bayou Coco, not far from where he began a basketball career that would lead him to being a member of the 1955 State All Star team and earn a scholarship in basketball to Pearl River Junior College.

He was the first player from Hancock County to participate in the Mississippi North-South All Star Basketball game.

As a high school basketball star, Ladner also found time to serve as class president as a freshman, sophomore, junior and senior.

After serving at Pearl River Junior College, Ladner received a scholarship to Louisiana College in Alexandria, La.

Ladner was graduated from Louisiana College in 1960 with a Bachelor of Science degree in health and physical education and a minor in social studies.

He earned a master's of education from the University of Southern Mississippi in 1969.

His doctoral study includes Mississippi's basketball at the University of Mississippi, the University of Alabama and the University of Tennessee, Mississippi.

After graduation from Louisiana College, Ladner began coaching the basketball program at the Bayou School System during his 1960-71 tenure.

During his tenure at Ladner, Ladner's teams compiled a record of 253 wins and 82 losses.

Ladner's professional record includes:

—Conducted the first high school basketball camp in Mississippi.

—Conducted the first girls' basketball camp on the college/university level in the South Eastern United States.

—Founded the first turkey hunting seminar at the college/university level in the Southern United States.

—And contacted by the University of Monterrey, Monterrey, Mexico for the purpose of conducting basketball seminars and assisting them to develop a basketball national program for the entire country of Mexico, 1975.

Coach Ladner has received numerous awards as a basketball coach and as a basketball specialist. Those awards include:

—Young Educator of the Year Award—1966, presented by the Picayune Junior Chamber of Commerce.

—Coach of the Year in South Mississippi—1966.

—Selected as an 'Excellence in Teaching' 1973 nominee, Department of Athletic Administration and Coaching. Nominated for same honor in 1974, 1975, 1977, 1979, 1980, 1983, 1984.

—Recipient of 'Alumnus of the Year Award'—1977, Pearl River Junior College.

—Served as honorary head basketball coach of the Special Olympics in 1977, 1978, 1979, 1980, 1981.

—Recipient of the 'Distinguished Professor of the Year Award'—1986, awarded by the University of Southern Mississippi Alumni Association.

Nutritious snacks are great for kids of all ages

Is your child a victim of snack attacks? If so, he or she is not alone. Snacking is natural for growing, active children. Your challenge as a parent is to find snacks that are not only pleasure oriented, but packed with nutrition.

"Between-meal energizers—most people call them snacks—are important for growing youngsters and active teens," said Capt. Stephanie McCann, American Heart Association (AHA), Mississippi Affiliate spokesperson.

"Selecting nutritious snacks puts your child on the road to a healthier heart," she said.

According to the AHA, healthy snacks are those which contribute needed protein, vitamins, minerals and fiber while avoiding too much fat, cholesterol, salt and sugar.

"Snacks can taste good and still be nutritious," according to McCann. "One good rule is to go for the real thing and avoid snacks that contain calories and little else."

Many nutritious and tasty items are available for your child, such as fresh fruits, unsweetened canned fruits, dried fruits, crunchy vegetables, low-fat milks, cheeses and yogurts, unsalted nuts (except cashews and macadamias), popcorn, whole-grain breads and muffins.

The AHA also has recipes for healthful, between-meal snacks that your child can prepare at home with little supervision and instruction. They include:

FROZEN BANANAS

2 bananas cut in half
2 tablespoons of old-fashioned peanut butter
Approximately 1/2 cup of evaporated skim milk
Chopped nuts or crunch bran cereal

Mix peanut butter with evaporated skim milk until mixture is the consistency of egg whites. Roll bananas in peanut butter mixture. Then roll in nuts and/or cereal. Place in freezer until frozen. Serves four.

FLAVORED POPCORN

Pop corn without using oil. Season to taste with any of the following items: chili powder, onion powder, garlic powder, grated Parmesan cheese or cinnamon. If the popcorn is sprayed with a non-stick vegetable coating while hot, the seasonings will adhere more easily. This snack can be stored in an air-tight container for future snacking.

The following recipe from Dolores Tarenski of Des Plaines, Ill., was the winner of the AHA Chicago Affiliate's Healthy Cookie Recipe Contest held during last year's Food Festival. The recipe is proof that you don't have to give up great taste to cut excess fat and cholesterol from your diet.

LOW-FAT, LOW-CHOLESTEROL OATMEAL COOKIES

1 1/2 cups margarine
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup white sugar
6 egg whites
2 cups rolled oats
3/4 cups flour
1 teaspoon cinnamon
2 teaspoons baking soda

COOKING UP A STORM

By Katie McGuire Caire

I know, I know, fresh tomatoes are available all through the seasons these days, but for me! In wintry months, I prefer canned tomatoes or tomatoes from my freezer to the golfball-hard tomatoes of winter, for the most part.

So, late summer and early fall find me wolfing down tomatoes at an almost sinful rate, in all sorts of delicious ways; and also, hoarding for winter (not money, but tomatoes.)

I can't bear to lose that real tomato taste, so I freeze some whole on cookie trays, then package for the freezer so that I'll have a taste of summer and fall in the cold damp of winter.

I freeze quantities of the fresh tomato sauce, as well; and I slice some tomatoes and freeze them, for use in cooking. And, I indulge in my favorite:

FAREWELL TO SUMMER TOMATO PIE

1 pie shell (if you're more ambitious, make your own or use a mix)

4 ripe, sliced tomatoes, medium size

12 oz. grated Swiss cheese
1 cup cheddar cheese, grated
2 slices bacon, cooked and crumbled

1/4 tsp. pepper, dash of salt if desired

1/2 cup chopped green onions, sauteed in 2 Tbsp. butter

2 Tbsp. seasoned bread crumbs

Seasonings of your choice—basil, oregano, etc.

Prepare your pie crust, or use ready-to-bake, and prick bottom with a fork. Bake until golden for 10 minutes or so, and let cool.

Spoon the cheese into the pie crust, sprinkle with bacon, and arrange the sliced tomatoes atop. Sprinkle pepper and salt and seasonings over all. Spoon the sauteed green onions atop, along with the bread crumbs, and bake in a 325 degree oven for approximately 20 minutes or just until the tomatoes are somewhat on the cooked side. And, if you've any green tomatoes on hand, and want to use them up, try this tasty:

GREEN TOMATO GREAT

In a baking dish, just slice the tomatoes in quantity needed for your dish, approximately a quarter-inch thick, and sprinkle each slice with chopped parsley, oregano, pepper, salt and fine bread crumbs or crushed crackers.

Dot generously with butter or margarine and top with shredded cheddar cheese. Top with another layer of tomato slices, and repeat the procedure. Pop into a 350 degree oven for 30 or 40 minutes, until the cheese melts and the crumbs turn a nice delicate brown.

Italian food fest, bocce tournament to be held in Gulfport

This year's "Italian Food Fest and Bocce Tournament" is scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 30 from 11 a.m. until 9 p.m. at the Westside Community Center, 4010 West Beach Boulevard in Gulfport.

"Delicious pasta, pizza, meatballs, sausage, scrumptious desserts and more, all representing various provinces of Italy, will be available," according to Bertha Giani, spokesperson.

Outdoor competition of various bocce teams, indoor entertainment, live bands for dancing and listening, will be featured plus door prizes.

"Join the Gulf Coast Italian American Cultural Society for a fun-filled Saturday of Italian food, dancing and games," Giani said.

For further details, contact John Caranna at 388-6438.

Fall Oktoberfest to feature Belgian horses, German food

The Rice Pavilion on Hwy. 90 in front of Marine Life will be the setting for the 13th annual Mississippi Gulf Coast Oktoberfest Sept. 29 through Oct. 1.

The '89 Oktoberfest schedule starts with a kickoff aboard the Pride of Mississippi on Thursday, Sept. 28 from 8 p.m. until midnight. The ship will be docked in the Gulfport Harbor for the event. German food, music, entertainment and beverages will be available.

The Mississippi Gulf Coast Amateur Boxing, a sanctioned event featuring 15 matches, along with the Long Beach High School Choir and the Zweier Volks Tanser from New Orleans will perform.

The giant Belgian Horse Team will be on display. The beautiful sorrel-colored, perfectly matched Hill and Brooks Belgians are the gentlest and strongest of the draft horse breed, each weighing in at around 2,300 pounds. The giant draft horses stand around 19 hands tall and wear four-pound horseshoes that are eight inches wide. The elegant show harness each horse wears weights more than 130 pounds. Admission to the Rice Pavilion is free.

IN BRIEF

FLEA MARKET

Antique dealers, artists, craftsmen, hobbyists and collectors are asked to reserve spaces early for the 18th annual Flea Market and Antique Sale sponsored by the Jones County Legal Secretaries Association.

The event is set for Nov. 4 and 5 at the fairgrounds on Ellisville Boulevard, Laurel, and promises to be a fun-filled weekend with live entertainment being planned for both days.

Spaces measuring approximately 10 by 10 feet rent for $25 per space. To secure spaces or obtain information, contact Eleanor Silver, P.O. Box 525, Laurel, MS 39441, phone 649-7823, or Linda Goza, P.O. Box 131, Laurel, MS 39441.

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, Our Founding Fathers, in order to secure the blessings of liberty for themselves and their posterity, did ordain and establish a Constitution for the United States of America, and

WHEREAS, The two hundred second anniversary of the signing of the Constitution provides a historic opportunity for all Americans to learn about and recall achievements of our Founders, and to reflect on the rights and privileges of citizenship, as well as its attendant responsibilities, and

WHEREAS, The independence guaranteed to the American people by the Constitution should be celebrated by appropriate ceremonies and activities during Constitution Week, September 17 through 23, as designated by proclamation of the President of the United States of America in accordance with Public Law 915,

NOW, THEREFORE, we, John Longo, Jr. and Edward Favre, by virtue of the authority vested in us as Mayors of the Cities of Waveland and Bay St. Louis, respectively, in the state of Mississippi, do hereby proclaim the week of September 17 through 23 as Constitution Week and urge all our citizens to pay special attention during that week to our Federal Constitution and the advantage of American Citizenship.

HEALTHNOTES

Hancock Medical Center

Preparing first-aid kits for the home

When it comes to your family, any emergency is important. Sept. 18 through 24 has been designated Emergency Medical Services Week, and with children back in school and injuries more frequent, Hancock Medical Center is setting aside time for observance.

Throughout the week, HMC has offered tours for local school groups and "teddy bear and doll clinics" for younger children.

While hospitals remain the best place to treat urgent medical problems, it is a good idea for every household to be prepared for emergencies. And because statistics tell us that more than four million accidents occur each year around the home, having a completely stocked and up-to-date first-aid kit is of great importance.

The supplies in your first-aid kit should be checked periodically and replenished as needed. Make a note of these specific items you should have on hand in your first-aid kit: Sterile gauze pads, a roll of adhesive bandage tape and also adhesive bandages in assorted sizes to handle cuts and scrapes of all sizes.

It's good to have at least one elastic bandage to wrap sprained wrists, ankles, knees or elbows. Tissues, cotton swabs and cotton balls aid in cleaning wounds and applying medication. A pair of sharp scissors will cut bandages to the necessary size or cut away garments if needed. A pair of tweezers will come in handy for removing splinters, bee stingers or glass from wounds.

It is also good to include aspirin, antihistamine tablets, and hydrogen peroxide and antiseptic spray or cream to clean and disinfect a wound.

In addition, you should make sure that in your car and boat you carry a folded, lightweight blanket; a clean, folded sheet; flares; and a flashlight with fresh batteries.

If you or anyone in your family is hypersensitive to bee or insect stings, you may want to include a syringe of adrenaline, an antihistamine, and a hypodermic needle in your kit. These insect-sting kits must be prescribed by and used under the instruction of a doctor.

Diabetics will want to include a reserve of insulin and a handy supply of plain sugar, which may be used to treat insulin shock.

If you're a heart patient, you should include a supply of nitroglycerin or other necessary medication.

You may find a metal tool box or lunch box handy for storing your first-aid supplies.

In your home, the kitchen or bathroom medicine cabinet, garage or workroom are ideal locations for your first aid kits. It's also wise to have a kit in your car, camper or boat.

If you are planning to bike, hike, camp or spend time in a remote or isolated area, you should pack a portable first-aid kit with your belongings. If boating, make sure you wrap your first-aid kit in a waterproof cover to prevent any water from ruining its contents.

For more information about preparing a useful first-aid kit, contact your local hospital emergency department or the Red Cross.

First aid classes offered by Red Cross

The Hancock County office of the American Red Cross is offering first aid classes to be conducted on Wednesday, Oct. 11 and Thursday, Oct. 12 at 6 p.m. at the Waveland Civic Center. Because class size is limited, participants need to pre-register and pick up their books. Cost of the class is $15 which includes the textbook.

A community CPR course will be offered on Monday, Oct. 23 and Tuesday, Oct. 24 at the Waveland Civic Center.

The classes are limited. Participants are asked to register early.

Individuals who successfully completed the CPR course on Sept. 11-12 include Edie Ankole, Mary Bermond, Thomas Bowers, Christine Breaux, Zoe L. Bretziers and Caelie Gensler.

Also, Lynn Gensler, Phyllis L'Enfant, Barbara Kingston, Sandra Russell, Myrtle Signorelli and Roy Walton.

For further information contact the Red Cross Office at 467-7609.

We've Been Making Loans for 99 Years

Since 1890, we've been making loans to homeowners so we've really got the hang of it.

And it follows that we'd know the ropes on financing vacations. So it's easy to see why so many thrifty Hancock and Harrison County travelers look to us for vacation loans to exotic places.

So, when you get the itch to go to Bangkok, New York, Saint-Tropez, or Puducah, come on in to any Peoples Federal location, we'll help you find a way to take the break you've earned—because we know the value of a vacation.

'Volksmarch' at Stennis planned for whole family

The Magnolia State Volkssport Club has chosen John C. Stennis Space Center as the location for their 9th IVV Volksmarch to be held Oct. 1.

Upon arrival at the Space Center gate, participants should identify themselves as volksmarchers and ask for an event map with further directions.

A volksmarch is a non-competitive sporting event over a pre-planned 6.2 mile trail. Literally translated from German, Volksmarch means "march of the people," and is one of several volksport events designed for fun and fitness.

All ages are encouraged to participate at their own pace. Family participation is popular in this event where everyone is declared a winner. Children under 12 must be accompanied by an adult. Pets must be kept on a leash.

Register at Cypress House anytime between 7 a.m. and 1 p.m., either day.

Participants can start at their convenience, however everyone must finish by 4 p.m. The walk is free for those not interested in the optional commemorative medal.

Available for $5, the two-inch cloisonne medal features a space shuttle. Even after walking 10 km, participants should still have enough energy left to enjoy the facilities offered at John C. Stennis Space Center. The Visitors Center is free and open daily 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. A free tour of the installation is offered which includes the Space Shuttle Test Complex and the work of the agencies resident at the Space Center. Visitors can view indoor and outdoor exhibits and displays in addition to live demonstrations and movies and can also scan the horizon from the 90-foot 'Space Tower.'

For more information about the volksmarch, contact Nancy Baughman at 896-6783.

SECTION B

THE SEA COAST ECHO—THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 21, 1989-1B

Time Out

By Dena Bisnette

When there's nothing to talk about, talk about the weather.

Well, there's a lot of sports news I could talk about, but I still can't resist making my topic for this week the cool weather we've started to have in the evenings, particularly when I think about sports.

I had almost decided we were all crazy to be sitting there sweating and fanning ourselves in the stands at the games.

I felt more sorry for the athletes, because, despite all their training, I am sure the heat must have slowed their performance a little. At least, it feels that way to the fan sweating in the bleachers.

With the cool front (Please pray that it lasts!), it feels like football season has truly arrived and I'm looking forward to faster action and more exciting games.

By the way, have any of you sports fans out there noticed any similarity between football stadiums and greenhouses? The fuller you pack them, the hotter they get; and I know some of these teams are playing to full houses most Friday nights.

See you at the games.

Brian Brooks of St. Stanislaus took an individual second place this past weekend in the 5,000 meter competition during the Newman Invitational Cross-country Track Meet, with a time of 17:29. His team, competing in its first-ever cross country meet, finished 13th and the Our Lady Academy girls finished eighth in varsity competition.

Brooks, who is 17, also picked up first place in his age bracket and a 13th overall out of about 500 runners who participated in Tulane's annual Finish on the Fifty 5-K race.

His time in the Sept. 9 race, which started at the Superdome entrance and ended on the 50 yardline, was 16:40.

Hancock County Recreation Association and Team Holocaust, a local skateboarding group, will sponsor a skateboarding and bicycle competition Sept. 30 in the Walmart Parking Lot.

Entry fee is $5, with registration starting at 5:30 p.m. and competition starting at 6:30. Trophies and cash prizes will be awarded and refreshments will be available. Cycles Plus is providing the judging.

Don't forget the third annual Hancock County Bassmasters Open Bass Tournament, which will be fished Oct. 8 on the Pearl River.

Call Ronnie Ferrell at 467-4036 or Sid LeBlanc at 467-3234 for registration information.

Final registration dates for Bay Area Youth Soccer will be today at Bay Middle School Cafeteria from 7:30 p.m. until 9 p.m.; Sept. 23 at Bay Catholic Elementary School Cafeteria from 10 a.m. to noon; and Sept. 24 between 1 p.m. and 2:30 p.m. at Waveland Little League Field.

Children ages five through 18 are eligible to register. Registration fee is $25 per player.

For more information, contact Richard Flowers at 467-0474.

In junior varsity football action Monday, Hancock North Central defeated St. Stanislaus 21 to 8. In seventh and eighth grade action, Hancock North Central defeated Gulfview 16-8.

Cycles Plus Bicycle Club has a ride scheduled Sunday at Greater Gulf State Park. For more information, call Cycles Plus Bicycle Shop at 467-1706.

I don't usually make special mentions of the high school football teams, but Hancock North Central deserves one for being the highest ranked Gulf Coast team in the Associated Press poll for Mississippi high schools.

Hancock ranks 14th in the poll selections this week, and I understand St. Stanislaus also got a vote. For those of you who are less familiar with the poll, the group choosing the top 20 is relatively small on a statewide basis, consisting of 18 sportswriters and sportscasters.

Homecoming slated by SSC

St. Stanislaus will hold its 1989 Homecoming on Friday, Sept. 22. All alumni of St. Stanislaus are invited to take part in the activities to be held on the school campus.

A pep rally will be held in the school gym on Thursday at 7 p.m. On Friday there will be a homecoming party for alumni and friends of St. Stanislaus beginning at 5:15 p.m.

The homecoming game between St. Stanislaus and Long Beach High School will begin at 7:30 p.m. The court will be formally presented before the game and again at the homecoming dance on Saturday.

This year's queen is Cissy Randolph. Homecoming maids are Destin Black, Stephanie Kirk, Denene Ware and Lauren Zito.

Cissy Randolph is a senior at Our Lady Academy. She is a member of the school chorus and the yearbook staff; and she takes part in campus ministry.

In her sophomore year she played on the volleyball team and she was class vice-president. She is a member of the Princess Shoppe Teen Board.

She is the daughter of Bill Randolph of Hattiesburg and Mrs. Marion Brokmeier of Bay

Coast Episcopal plans Saturday homecoming

Coast Episcopal High School will celebrate its 1989-90 Homecoming on Saturday, Sept. 23 against the Columbia Academy Cougars. The game will be played on the St. Stanislaus field in Bay St. Louis. Kickoff is 5 p.m.

Selected for the CEHS Homecoming Court is freshman maid

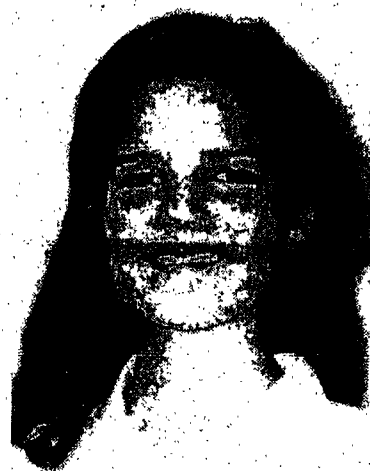

Todd attended Coast Episcopal from kindergarten through sixth grade. This is her first year to return to Coast. She is class treasurer, Spanish Club treasurer and a member of the Episcopal Young Churchmen.

Junior class maid is Leanne Bea Stafford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maner Stafford of Diamondhead.

Stafford has attended Coast Episcopal since the seventh grade. She is captain of the Raider cheerleaders and is a member of the Spanish Club, the annual staff and SADD.

She is also a member of the National Honor Society, Mu Alpha Theta, and Who's Who Among American High School Students. Stafford lettered in track, basketball and softball for the Raiders.

Junior Varsity Rocks fall to Hancock

The St. Stanislaus Junior Varsity Rock-A-Chaws lost their second game of the season 21-8 as they visited the Hancock North Central JV's on Monday.

The Rocks' only scoring came on two runs by sophomore Tate Thriffley, once for the touchdown and again for the two-point conversion. Thriffley's drive for the score was assisted by fullback Scott Petersen and set up by Rock JV quarterback

Bill Dreher.

A would-be touchdown on a 45-yard run on the option by Dreher was called back on a penalty.

Defensively, the Rocks began to show improvement in the second half with key plays by Petersen and Mike Davidge.

Next Monday, the Junior Rocks will face the Pass Christian JV Pirates at SSC.

SSC/OLA field first cross country teams

For the first time ever, the St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws and Our Lady Academy fielded cross country teams competing in the Newman Invitational in New Orleans last Saturday.

Junior distance runner Brian Brooks paced the Rock-A-Chaws in their initial autumn track venture. Brooks placed second in a field of 132 runners, covering the 3.1-mile course in a time of 17:29.

Front-running during most of the race, Brooks lost contact in the last half-mile to Bancroft McMurphy of University Military School of Alabama, who finished first with a time of 17:15.

For OLA, the cross country team placed eighth out of 10 teams in their first outing of the season.

The Rock-A-Chaws placed 13th out of 17 teams. Other members of the SSC squad include Scott Marechal, Michael Hargett, Mario Mallini, Wade Weidman and Chris Reisch.

The OLA team includes Jenny Dagnall, Kristy Heitzmann, Andrea Platz, Renee LeBourgeois and Jeanne Williams.

Rocks prepare for homecoming and Long Beach

Special to the Echo
By Tom Ackerman

The St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws have more than a little to worry about as they prepare to meet the Long Beach Bearcats tomorrow night at the SSC Stadium.

For one thing, it's the Rocks' homecoming. In the past few years, the visiting teams have put a damper on the festivities by defeating the home team. Everybody knows how much fun it is to mess up somebody else's homecoming.

For another, the Rocks are riding high on a 3-0 record—their best in years; while the Cats are in a 0-3 slump. Overconfidence could be a factor.

"It's not so much overconfidence," corrected Rock head coach Ken Lyons, "it's more worrying about a lull. Our kids aren't mentally in the winning groove," he continued. "We've got to learn how to handle success. You just can't have highs and lows and survive."

Another factor enters into the picture: The Rocks are playing a district schedule this year, facing Hancock North Central, d'Iberville, St. Martin and Long Beach. Tomorrow night's contest will be the first conference test for both Long Beach and SSC.

But on the plus side, the Rock-A-Chaw defense was able to maintain their balance last week against the East Central Hornets. In the opening minutes of the game, the Hornets threw some curves with a well-executed reverse. The Rocks adapted quickly.

"Versatility is our strength," Lyons noted. "With our system, we can adjust easily."

And the Rock offense also made adjustments against the Hornet defense.

"They were taking away part of our inside game," Lyons said. "We were able to adapt and go wide."

Getting ready for Long Beach, however, doesn't seem to be posing any real problems for the Rock-A-Chaws.

"We've got a basic system," Lyons said. "We don't change every week. We make adjustments to see what we're going to emphasize."

The game between the Rocks and Bearcats will begin immediately after the presentation of the Homecoming Court at 7:30 p.m.

Bay High to face Vancleave Friday

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Bay High Tigers travel to Vancleave Friday night to take on the Bulldogs.

Bay High is 0-3 so far, but last week's clash with Pearl River Central was the only one which affected division standings. The Bulldogs, with a 1-1-1 record, will be the Tigers' second district foe.

"They have very good skill people and are very quick on defense," Tiger Head Coach Dodd Lee said Wednesday before practice.

"We need to play a good game, put four quarters together, limit and block well and tackle well," Lee said.

"We've got to concentrate on blocking and our assignments."

Pearl River loses 35-15

Mississippi Delta scored all its points in the first half in a 35-15 junior college football victory Thursday over Pearl River.

Delta scored three touchdowns in the first quarter and two in the second in taking a 35-0 halftime lead over the Wildcats, who came back with one TD in the third period and one in the fourth.

Delta scored its first TD after a 13-play, 85-yard drive, then picked up two easy scores when Pearl River fumbled its next two possessions on its own 16- and 30-yard lines.

Delta outgained Pearl River in total yardage 371-302 but in the first half, Delta led 307-79. Michael Toefield scored Pearl River's first touchdown on a five-yard run and Walter Sobel kicked the extra point.

Reggie Austin picked up Pearl River's second score on a 30-yard run in the fourth quarter. Austin also ran for the two-point conversion.

Pearl River drops to 1-2 on the season. The Wildcats will play at Jones Junior College at 7 p.m. Saturday.

CEHS

Rick Barkman of Gulfport. Barkman has attended Coast Episcopal for two years. She is class secretary, historian for the French Club and typist for the CEHS literary magazine, the Coast Quarterly.

The other senior maid is Kathryn Stumville Grant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Grant of Pass Christian.

Grant has attended Coast Episcopal for three years. She is president of the CEHS Student Council and editor of the school annual, the Pigeonhole.

Grant is a member of the National Honor Society, Mu Alpha Theta and the French Club. Grant is a representative on the Episcopal Diocese of Mississippi, Division of Youth Council.

The homecoming court will be presented in pre-game ceremonies starting at 4:30 p.m. The queen, elected by the student body from the two senior class maids, will be crowned.

During homecoming week, the high school will sponsor various activities to promote school spirit such as class projects, theme days and contests. On Friday, the day will start with a church service in the outdoor chapel.

MSU to face Georgia at Athens

National ranking and the early lead in the Southeastern Conference standings are on the line Saturday at Sanford Stadium in Athens, Ga. when Mississippi State takes on Georgia (1 p.m. EDT kickoff).

A sell-out crowd of better than 82,000 is anticipated for the 17th renewal of the Georgia-Mississippi State football rivalry.

Mississippi State, 2-0, jumped into the national ranking scene (AP—25th, Sporting News—19th) and has enjoyed an open date following a 26-23 upset of previously-ranked Southern Mississippi in Hattiesburg.

Georgia, ranked 19th in the AP poll, made Ray Goff's collegiate head coaching debut a success last weekend with a 15-3 win over Southwest Conference foe Baylor.

'Hawg' Roast planned by Rebels in Jackson

Alumni and friends of The University of Mississippi attending the Ole Miss-Arkansas game Sept. 23 in Jackson can prepare for the game in style—with a Rebel "Hawg" Roast Sept. 22 at Hal & Mal's, 200 S. Commerce Street in Jackson.

The roasting begins at 7 p.m. with barbecue served by Gridley's until 9 p.m. Then Class Reunion will perform from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. There will also be a brief video presentation featuring former Ole Miss athletes.

Tickets for the event are $10 per person (which includes a barbecue plate) or $5 per person (no barbecue). To ensure that enough barbecue will be available, promoters ask that alumni and friends planning to attend purchase or reserve tickets ahead of time.

The Rebel "Hawg" Roast is

OLA prepares for soccer season

BY DENA BISNETTE

Our Lady Academy's girls' soccer team is preparing for its second season—but this year will be different. This year, the girls will get to play a few games against Mississippi teams.

Last year, OLA was the first and only all-girls school to field a soccer team, according to one of the team advisors, H.W. LeBourgeois. This year, when the season begins in November, at least four other Mississippi schools are expected to have all-girls teams.

Most of last year's players, who finished with a 3-8 season record, have returned, including last year's Most Improved Player award recipient, Jenny Dagnall, Sportsmanship Award winner Liz Findlay and Spirit Award winner Karen Kolodziej. Only team captains Julie Rutherford and Tina Sokol were lost to graduation after the 1988-89 season, LeBourgeois said.

Athletic Director and Coach Harry Hull and LeBourgeois are returning to lead the team, along with a new advisor, Mark Turner. Turner replaces Bart Brooks.

Ralph Dagnall is heading up efforts to construct a new field for OLA. Until it is completed, all home games will be played at St. Stanislaus.

The homecoming court will be introduced and recognized at the homecoming dance on Saturday, Sept. 23. This dance will be held from 8 p.m. until midnight in the Student Union at St. Stanislaus and is open to high school students at St. Stanislaus.

Number 14 Hancock Hawks tackle East Central Hornets

BY D.C. HARVILL

The Hancock North Central Hawks take their undefeated record on the road this week to face the East Central Hornets.

Ranked twentieth in the state last week, after their 15-7 win over Poplarville, the Hawks jumped six positions to number 14 in this week's rankings.

"Everybody is gunning for us, they all want a shot at a ranked team," Head Coach Irvin Favre said. "It's a good feeling—we could be sitting at 0-3. I'd much rather be at 3-0."

According to Favre, the Hawks are still trying to mold all the aspects of their game into a solid whole.

"We're still not consistent. We are trying to put things together and come up with a complete football team—defense, offense and kicking," he said.

The team has problems but has also had some good breaks, according to Favre.

"We had five turnovers in the last game. It is hard to overcome that. Usually if a team makes that many mistakes, when you look at the statistics, they are in the loss column."

"We are a pretty good little football team, but when you start making mistakes you give the other team an opportunity to catch up and beat you," Favre said.

The coach credits the Hawk's defense with saving the game for them in light of the number of turnovers.

Favre expects a good match with the Hornets, a team Hancock has not faced in a number of years.

"They are always well coached—their coach Mike Gavin is a good one. They can hang in there with the best of them," Favre said.

The coach said he does not know what to expect from the Hornets, defensively or offensively.

"He (Gavin) runs three or four different defenses. I don't know what he will come with. It is a mystery what people will go with. That gives us problems sometimes," Favre said.

"Offensively they usually use a multiple power I, or I-formation. We will have to be prepared for a multiple offense and just hope he doesn't come out with something we're not ready for."

East Central, located in the Hurley/Wade Community in Jackson County, can be reached by taking State Highway 63 north from Moss Point. Kick-off time is 7:30.

Raiders log narrow defeat in double overtime play

In a Saturday game at St. Stanislaus field, Coast Episcopal's Raiders lost a heartbreaker in double overtime to Rankin Academy's Falcons.

Behind 22-8 at half, the Raiders came back in the second half with a determined defensive effort led by Scott Hourin and Jamie North. The offense was on target both in its running and passing game. A flea flicker from quarterback Tyrone ones to Billy Guice then to Scott Covode ended in a 27-yard touchdown before a cheering home crowd.

In a balanced pass and run attack, Scott Covode also scored one touchdown rushing, and Gib Werby scored another rushing touchdown. Two point after conversion passes from Tyrone Jones to Nathan Guice and Scott Covode ended regulation play at 22-22.

In the second overtime period, the Falcons scored on a short yard rushing play.

Outstanding Raider stats for the game: Tyrone Jones, 15 of 23 passes completed for 300 yards, one pass for a touchdown; Scott Covode, 51 yards rushing as the leading ball-carrier; and Billy Guice, 123 yards total in passes caught.

Outstanding defensive player of the game was Scott Hourin.

SPORTS SHORT

The University of Southern Mississippi Athletic Department will sponsor a basketball coaches' clinic at the Holiday Inn, Sept. 30-Oct. 1.

Speakers will include head basketball coaches M. K. Turk of USM, Larry Finch of Memphis State University, Bobby Paschal of the University of South Florida and Jackie Laird of Biloxi High School. Larry Ladner, USM coaching and sports administrator, also will participate.

Pre-registration fees for the clinic are $35 per coach or $30 each for two or more coaches from the same school. If not pre-registered, the fee at the door will be $45 per person.

The Sea Coast Echo and the local businesses appearing on this page will be sponsoring the contest for the next 13 weeks. Each week's winner will receive $50.00 and will be announced in the next issue.

Locate the games listed in each advertiser's space and circle the team you think will win.

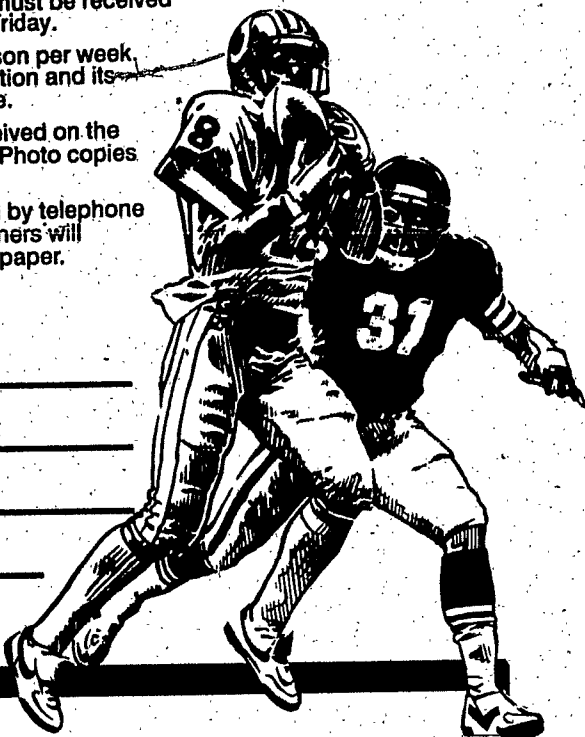

Fill in the entry form completely and mail (or bring it to the newspaper office) the entire contest sheet. All entries must be received or postmarked by 7 p.m. Friday.

Only one entry per person per week. Employees of this publication and its advertisers are not eligible.

All entries must be received on the original newspaper form. Photo copies are not eligible.

Winners will be notified by telephone and the names of the winners will be published in this newspaper.

St. Thomas Silver Tea

Guests at a Silver Tea hosted by Episcopal Church Women, St. Thomas Episcopal Church, were treated to an array of traditional English tea delectables while contributing to worthy charities. Pictured clockwise are Mrs. Barry Cotter, honoree and wife of the Vicar of St. Thomas and Mrs. Daniel Riordan, president of the women's group; recipients of the group's donations, Keith Regan of Habitat for Humanity; St. Michael's Farm for Boys students Jason Thornton and Michael Bynum and Director Dr. Robert Escudero; refreshments chairman Mrs. Berlon Dennis; and Silver Tea chairman Mrs. John Stewart and refreshment committee member Mrs. Raymond Badgett. The well-attended event was hosted at the home of Mrs. Sam M. Lawrason of Diamondhead. (Photos by Janet McQueen)

'Wheels For Life' Bike-A-Thon is Oct. 7 in Diamondhead, Waveland

STANLEY ROBERT

St. Jude bike-a-thon coordinator Stanley Robert of Diamondhead asked Bay St. Louis, Waveland and Diamondhead residents to join the St. Jude Children's research Hospital "Wheels For Life" Bike-A-Thon slated for Saturday Oct. 7 at Diamondhead.

Billy Adams is chairman of the Waveland bike-a-thon. Robert said the ride honors Ellen Marie, a solid tumor patient at St. Jude.

"With every turn of the wheel, riders become 'spokesmen' for all the kids with cancer, like Ellen Marie."

Robert said, "This ride is a vital part of the fight against childhood cancer at St. Jude. Riders are really needed. They make or break a bike-a-thon." Riders sign up sponsors who promise to make donations based on each mile completed. All riders turning in money will receive a certificate. Those who raise $25 receive a certificate and a St. Jude T-shirt. When $75 is raised, the rider receives a barrel tote bag, a T-shirt and a certificate.

Sponsor forms are available at Cycles Plus on Main Street, Bay St. Louis.

"The general plan is to have a good time while helping a wonderful group of children counting on our support," Robert said.

Contact Stanley Robert in Diamondhead at 255-1278 for details on riding or sponsoring a rider, or Billy Adams in Waveland at 467-4788.

PECAN FESTIVAL

The Lions Club meets at the Hancock County Courthouse on the second and fourth Tuesdays at 6 p.m.

During the month of October, Lions will honor law enforcement officers and sponsor several community service programs.

CLUBS, AUXILIARIES

Real estate firm raises donations for MDA

JACKIE KIDD

Jackie Kidd of ERA Bayshore Realty was the top fundraiser for ERA Bayshore for the Muscular Dystrophy Association (MDA) as part of a nationwide fund-raising effort by Electronic Realty Associates Inc.

Nationally, ERA Real Estate brokers and sales associates raised $1.1 million, Dubuison said.

Tom Schmitt, president of the ERA Real Estate Network division and national vice president of MDA, and Gary Whistler and Doug Freeman of ERA Freeman & Whistler Inc. of Gresham, Ore., the top fund-raising office for the ERA for MDA annual "Day In May" fund-raising contest among ERA brokers nationwide, presented a check for that amount to Jerry Lewis during the Labor Day Television Sept. 4 in Las Vegas. Also involved in the presentation was Art Bowen of the ERA Bowen Agency Inc. in Selingsgrove, Pa.

Since ERA Real Estate became the sole corporate sponsor for MDA from the real estate industry in 1977, the franchise has raised more than $9 million to help fight neuromuscular diseases, Dubuison said.

"Throughout the year, our strong commitment to MDA and a common sense of purpose keep us working on behalf of people suffering from neuromuscular diseases," said Dubuison.

The local firm's fund-raising activities this year was door-to-door collections, she said.

American Legion Unit 139

Bill Moran attended the 71st national convention of the American Legion in Baltimore, Md. Sept. 1-9. He served as a member of one of the following groups: the National Americanism Commission, the Counter-Subversive Activities Committee, or the Americanism Council.

The American Legion will be considering the numerous programs of the National Americanism Commission and will be giving direction for the Americanism program for the next 12 months. The meeting was held in the Commonwealth Convention Center in Baltimore on Saturday, Sept. 2.

Moran is a member of Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Post 139, Bay St. Louis.

Sierra Club

The Sierra Club will sponsor a Keep America Beautiful presentation by Connie Rockco, director of the Harrison County Beautification Commission.

The public is invited to attend the slide presentation on Thursday, September 28 at 7:30 p.m. at the Marine Education Center, Hwy. 90, Biloxi. No admission. Refreshments will be served. For more information, call 435-2623.

March of Dimes fundraiser planned

The March of Dimes Birth Defects Foundation will hold its third annual WalkAmerica in Hancock County on Saturday, Oct. 22.

The WalkAmerica committee is headed by Sheriff Ronnie Peterson as walk chairman and Betsy Ashman, team walk chairman. Both Peterson and Ashman are serving their third year.

WalkAmerica is a 10-kilometer walk along the beach, beginning at the Bay St. Louis Bridge and ending at Buccaneer State Park. Coca-Cola and water will be served at rest stops along the way and Pizza Hut will provide lunch to all walkers at Buccaneer State Park.

In 1988, 282 walkers raised $6,955.22 for the March of Dimes Birth Defects Foundation in its continuing efforts to give every baby a healthy start in life.

Be a part of WalkAmerica 1989. For further information, call Betsy Ashman at 467-5496.

Mensa Society to administer I.Q. tests at Bay library

A qualified Mensa proctor will administer I.Q. tests Tuesday evening, Sept. 26 at the Bay St. Louis library. Anyone interested in taking the I.Q. test should contact Roy Burkart at 467-4262 for details and reservations.

Anyone scoring in the upper two percent will be eligible to Mensa. All scores are confidential and are graded in New York.

Mensa is an international society, with a local group on the Mississippi coast, whose members are from all walks of life, diverse in occupation, education, wealth and social background. The common thread among all its members is the knowledge that they are intellectually equal. A respect for others' intellect prevails regardless of differences of opinion.

Mensa is Latin for "table," signifying a round-table of equals.

It's official: new school will be named 'Hancock High'

Friday, Sept. 14, the Hancock North Central Student Council waved the banner showing the name of the new 'Hancock High School.' Members of the student council attended the school board meeting and counted ballots to make the new name official.

Students and the public were asked to enter a contest to name the new school last year. A three-way tie resulted in the name of Hancock High School which was sent in by Barbara White, librarian, Donna Turner and Kristy Bowman.

Four names were voted on as a result of last year's most popular entries: Hancock High School, Hancock Central High School, Hancock County High School and Stennis High School. When ballots were counted by the student council, Hancock High School was the most popular choice.

College Board member to address homemakers

Sidney Rushing, member of the State College Board, will speak to the Hancock County Extension Homemakers Council at the new Mississippi Power Building on US-90 on Wednesday, Sept. 27 at 9 a.m.

Rushing will talk about education in Mississippi and plans to develop a package of educational improvements. The public is invited to attend the forum.

State officials currently are traveling across the state to hear what citizens have to say about education. Late this year, Governor Ray Mabus plans to recommend a package of educational improvements for consideration by the Legislature.

For information about scheduling a similar speech before interested groups, call Ronnie McGinnis at 960-4253.

McLeod, Stasny attend law seminar

Bettye P. McLeod and Kim Stasny, both of Bay St. Louis, participated in the Education Law Institute at the University of Southern Mississippi this summer.

The institute covered a variety of law-related education topics including the juvenile justice system, American jurisprudence, the Mississippi court system, family law, education law, laws concerning drugs and alcohol, children and criminal law, and constitutional law and public school students.

The featured lecturer for the institute was Dr. Perry A. Zirkel, the nation's leading scholar in the field of education law.

Pass observes Bus Safety Week

Transportation Supervisor Robert White of the Pass Christian Public School District announced the week of Sept. 17-23 is School Bus Safety Week in Mississippi.

The Pass Christian district uses 23 school buses to transport 900 students a day. These buses travel more than 120,000 miles each year.

"The school transportation system is a big business," White said. "Last year, our district spent $203,000 in transportation services."

White went on to explain that besides being big business, pupil transportation is also important business.

"Our main concern is safety. We maintain our buses in as safe a condition as possible. Both drivers and students are given instruction in safety," he said.

In addition, this year Pass Christian bus drivers competed in the state school bus drivers rodeo and were the only school district in south Mississippi to place in the state contest in Jackson.

Reed, Weidman, Necaise pledge sororities at USM

Three Bay St. Louis area students pledged sororities this fall at the University of Southern Mississippi.

Marti Reed, daughter of Katie Reed; and Shelley Weidman, daughter of Stan and Micky Weidman of Waveland, pledged Delta Delta Delta sorority.

Hope Necaise, daughter of James and Frances Necaise of Waveland, pledged Pi Beta Phi sorority.

Battle, Underwood pledge

Two Bay St. Louis area students pledged fraternities this fall at the University of Southern Mississippi.

James Battle, son of Dr. and Mrs. Pat M. Battle of Bay St.

Louis, pledged Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

Donnie Underwood, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Underwood of Diamondhead, pledged Sigma Nu fraternity.

LOCAL BRIEF

BAND BOOSTERS

The Bay High Band Booster Club needs volunteers to work at a fundraising fair, proposed for Oct. 14 and 15 at the Bay High football field.

The fair will include food, crafts, a dunking booth, pie throwing, games, car wash, plants, cakes, music and other items, with a booth fee of $25 for profit-making groups and $10 for non-profit organizations.

Proceeds from the event, proposed for 1 p.m. until 9 p.m. Oct. 14 and 1 p.m. until 6 p.m. Oct. 15, will be used to help defray the band's travel costs for a trip during spring break.

To volunteer, call Michelle Albe at 467-0427 or Frank Bak-tis at 467-5806.

ROTC PROMOTION—University of Mississippi Army ROTC student Samuel Warman of Waveland was promoted to the rank of first lieutenant in the recent Rebel Battalion Awards and Promotion Ceremony.

Garfield readers' coloring sheets on display at library this week

Children who are participating in the Garfield Reading Club, sponsored by the Hancock County Library System, will find their coloring sheets displayed at the library this week.

Registration for the reading club is still open until Oct. 7 at the library nearest you, and children pre-school age through grade three are urged to come to the library and sign up to participate in the club, which will last through the week of Dec. 15.

Children who have not yet learned to read may participate by having a parent read too them.

All that is required to participate in the Garfield Reading Club is to visit the library nearest you at least 10 times during this period, check out books on your reading level and have your visitor's log stamped with a paw print.

Those club members who complete 10 visits to the library will be awarded a certificate the week of Dec. 15.

"This program has been especially designed to introduce children to the joy of books and reading," said Prima Wusnack, Library System director, "and we have Garfield bookmarks, reading records, weekly Garfield games, fun quizzes and certificates."

"Our staff members will be more than happy to assist children and parents in selecting materials on the child's reading level," she concluded.

Further information on the reading program may be obtained by calling Sandra Ladner on Mondays and Wednesdays at the main library at 467-5282, or Tuesdays and Thursdays and Fridays at the Kiln Library at 255-1724, or Karen Peoples on Tuesdays through Saturdays at the Waveland Library at 467-9240.

The Garfield Reading Club Fall Reading Program Schedule of Activities Hancock County Library System

'Grandletters' reestablish long distance relationships

In times past, when families lived closer together and elders were an important part of family life, grandparents often shared in the excitement of child-bearing. The first tooth, the first step, the first day of school—each was a tiny miracle to be cherished.

Children may be separated from their grandparents by distance or by divorce. Social attitudes may quietly erode values that strengthen elder-child relationships. Somehow we have to begin to reestablish and support the vital connection between elders and children.

The issues were selected by a group of elders, parents and professionals for their importance to both elders and children.

By trying some of the suggested activities and exchanging letters describing your views and experiences related to the key topic, you and your grandchild will learn more about each other. You will gain the satisfaction of knowing that your ideas are being conveyed to a young, impressionable person.

For their part, grandchildren will enjoy discovering more about you. Research shows that children who have a close relationship with their grandparents are less likely to have negative stereotypes of elders or fear of growing older.

The instructions for this program are available free from the Hancock County Extension office, 725-A Dunbar Avenue, Bay St. Louis.

Our lives can be enriched by contact with people of all ages. Children have much to learn from their elders. For their part, elders, can benefit from involvement with children by establishing a sense of connection with the younger generation and knowing they play an important role in their lives.

'Grandletters' is a program designed to strengthen the relationship between grandparents and grandchildren who are separated by distance. The program can also be used by elders who adopt a grandchild. Children who have no natural grandparents and grandchildren who are separated by distance. The program can also be used by elders who adopt a grandchild.

Children felt a part of their grandparents' lives and were deeply affected by their loving care and attention.

Today there are changes in society and family life that can disrupt this important relationship between elders and child-

IN BRIEF

BOGALUSA FEST

Regional artists, craftsmen, antique dealers and musicians will highlight Bogalusa's "Festival in the Park," Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 30 and Oct. 1 at Cassidy Park in Bogalusa.

This is the third annual festival and it continues to grow bigger and better each year. It has been estimated that 10,000 people attended last year's two-day event.

A full schedule of musical groups and entertainment on two stages has been planned, all free. A variety of art works, hand-crafted items, antiques and food will be sold from booth locations throughout the picturesque tree-shaded park, bordered by the Bogue Lusa Creek.

There will be children's activities, including games, rides, magic shows and a clown; a mini health fair, commercial exhibits and an Indian Artifacts Museum.

POLLWORKER TRAINING

The Hancock County Election Commission has scheduled, ONE training class for prospective pollworkers for the October 3 Special Election.

The class is to be attended by prospective pollworkers who did not attend one of the classes given in 1989.

The pollworker training class will be on Wednesday, September 27 at 11 a.m. at the Hancock County Courthouse.

BETSY NOLAN
Secretary of the Hancock County Election Commission

VOTE TABULATOR DEMONSTRATION

There will be a public demonstration of the vote counting equipment to be used in the Oct. 3, 1989 election. The demonstration will be held in the office of the Hancock County Election Commission at 10 am on Wednesday, September 27, 1989.

Blue Willow...

WINN DIXIE

the most popular pattern ever to decorate a plate is imported from England and produced by Churchill, a leading china manufacturer for over 145 years. For more than 200 years Blue Willow has graced the finest dining tables in the world and stirred the imaginations of discerning collectors. And no wonder. Who, after all, can resist the charming myth depicted on the plate — that of the star-crossed lovers who were turned into immortal love birds? And who could fail to recognize the quality of the hand engraving or the distinctive cobalt blue?

And now there's a real reason to celebrate. For a limited time through this exclusive offer you can buy classic Blue Willow at tremendous savings.

At these prices you can't afford not to start your collection. But do it today. An opportunity like this may never come your way again.
